When a man drowns himself that he may gain a wider notoriety, he may be set down as a crank.

The telegraphers are taking their vacation at the right time of the year—when the weather is hot and there is little to do.

Mrs. Langtry is now on the deep blue sea. If Mr. Gebhardt was there or somewhere else, this country would have its morals toned up quite considerably.

The appraisers of the property of the poet Longfellow have made a report which shows that the estate is worth $350,000, of which $200,000 is personal property and $150,000 is real estate.

Nearly all the prominent ministers in the country are out on a vacation. It doesn't make any difference whether the thermometer is 80 or a 100 in the shade. Sahu keeps on with his work and never takes a vacation.

The Western Union says the boys are nearly starved out; the boys say that the Western Union can't stand much longer. Either one of these statements will be believed according to the sympathy of the individual member of the community.

Mr. Joe McCullagh, the once brilliant editor of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, is down sick, and many fear that he will not recover. McCullagh has been one of the brightest and ablest editors in this country, jolly and robust, and weighing 200 pounds. But now his weight is less than 130, his mind is impaired, and there is no hope that he will be himself again. He has worked himself to a physical shadow, and just in the prime of manhood, must give up life, and learn as Horace Greeley did, that fame is vapor, and those who laugh to-day will weep to-morrow.

The Milwaukee Sentinel publishes the following and credits it to the Gratz tele. The chief clerk of the senate of Wisconsin, Mr. Charles B. Gross, has distinguished himself by offering his services to go to Milwaukee as a substitute telegraph operator during the strike, and is now working in that city in such a capacity. Mr. Gross will probably not be chief clerk of the next senate.

We are assured that the Sentinel does not wish to do the Gazette any injustice, and therefore will gladly and promptly correct itself. No such item as that credited to this paper ever appeared in it, and nothing whatever bearing any relation to it. We have not disclosed the question of Mr. Gross' connection with the strike at all.

It is reported that the Hon. S. S. Cox, member of congress from New York, has said that if he was sent for the speaker'ship next winter, he would retire from politics. We hope he will be defeated. Mr. Cox has been in congress twenty-two years, and is less of a statesman now than when he was first elected. He has been the clown of the house of representatives for many years, but unlike a circus, the house can get along without the clown. If over twenty-two years were thrown away in congress, those that Cox has served have been. He is a man of considerable ability in certain directions, and some of his lectures are humorous and take well, but as a professional funny man in the house, he has been a miserable failure, and even the members of his own party will not be sorry to see him go.

A Methodist minister, at Elkhorn, by the name of H. G. Sedgwick, quit the pulpit temporarily to help the Western Union out of its difficulty. He went to Milwaukee to twig the keys, being an expert operator, and for this his brethren are severely scolding him for quitting the service of the Lord and engaging in the service of Jay Gould and his monopoly. Any man who thinks more of Gould than does of the Divine Master, is not fit to preach the gospel. But Mr. Sedgwick's defense is that he was going to take a vacation, and thought he could make a hundred dollars a month, help the Western Union out of its difficulty, and at the same time take a rest. But the brethren who called on him for an explanation were not satisfied with this statement. They argued very forcibly to Mr. Sedgwick that he was abandoning the service of the Lord to help a "hateful monopoly, a thing in its very nature antagonistic to the teachings of Christ." One good brother, the Hon. Edwin Hyde, offered Mr. Sedgwick $100 if he would quit the keys, and return to his church, but Mr. Sedgwick could not be tempted by the offer of $100, and will stick to the keys until the time comes to go to Clear Lake to where he will attend the Sunday school convention and deliver a lecture on astronomy.

There were very few who believed that Captain Webb would be foolishly enough to attempt to swim the Niagara whirlpool. But his craving for notoriety over-balanced his judgment, and on Tuesday afternoon he made the effort, and his body will probably never be recovered. The attempt was looked upon as being so absolutely suicidal that the public would not have anything to do with it, and therefore did not assemble in any great number to see Webb plunge into the rapids; and the railway companies showed their good sense by refusing to carry persons at reduced fare who wanted to see the fatal plunge. The advertising dodge having failed, the captain decided he would give himself to the tumultuous waves of the Niagara, and "shoot" the whirlpool just to spite those who would not believe in his ability to do so. He was taken in a small boat to a suitable place, and it was only a few minutes after he made a leap from the boat into the rapids, that he was carried to the famous whirlpool, where instant death awaited him. The public will look upon this as a sacrifice of life for notoriety. Common sense would seem to have dictated to Captain Webb that there was not one chance in a hundred thousand of his swimming the whirlpool, but in the face of all the chances against him he assumed the risk and has paid the penalty for his folly. When he swam the English channel in 1875—some twenty or twenty-five miles—he had comparatively a fine day and not a rough sea, and nothing to encounter that was one-thousandth part as dangerous as the maelstrom at Niagara. He leaves a wife and two children, and the poor woman who is now a widow, never thought that her husband would attempt to swim the rapids or "shoot" the whirlpool.

BREAK IN THE LINES.

The American Rapid Telegraph Company Gives In.

And Compromises With the Telegraphers' Brotherhood.—Situation Elsewhere.

Baltimore & Ohio Sends a Man to Talk With the Strikers.—Suits Against the Western Union.—News From the Centers of Trouble.

New York, July 25.—Eugene J. O'Connor and Henry Orr, of the Telegraphers' Brotherhood, left the office of the American Rapid Telegraph company, No. 187 Broadway, with smiling faces at 4 o'clock p. m. They had made an arrangement with President J. W. Conover and Vice-President R. H. May whereby the differences between that company and the brotherhood were ended. It was agreed that all of the brotherhood operators and line-men who left the service of the American Rapid last week should return to work in the morning. The exact terms of the agreement were not made known, but representatives of both of the interested parties said that they were mutually satisfactory. It was understood, however, that the arrangement included the recognition of the Telegraphers' Brotherhood by the company. One operator who returned to work said he understood that the American Rapid proposal to pay 30 per cent advance upon the old wages, that eight hours would constitute a day's work, seven hours a night's work, and all work Sunday to be paid extra.

The number of brotherhood operators who went out of the Rapid company's office was about 300. All of these operators are to be taken back, and most of the new operators who have been hired since the beginning of the strike will be retained. Mr. May said he did not propose to turn away any competent operators, who had stepped in to help the company when it was in trouble; besides he expected that the company would have sufficient business to give employment to the new as well as the old forces. The crisis, which for the last few days have informed the Rapid's patrons that messages would be taken "subject to delay," were ordered to be taken down, and Superintendent Sherman at once began to arrange for the reopening of the branch offices, and he expects to have all the usual facilities of the company available soon.

The news of the amicable arrangement between the Rapid company and the brotherhood found its way upon the street and among business men very quickly, and it created considerable of a stir. The officers of the Western Union company affected indifference to the action of the smaller telegraph company. In Wall street the news was gladly received, and eager inquiries were heard of every hand as to the ability of the American Rapid to handle a large amount of business. The general belief was that, with the brotherhood operators in charge of its wires, the Rapid company would have an opportunity of doing a large share of the continental telegraph business of this city.

Disputes were sent to Baltimore, Washington, Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia stating that the strike of the American Rapid had ended, and that all brotherhood men heretofore employed by the company would resume work. The Star has the following on the telegraphers' strike: A large number of telegraph operators, having struck work for the purpose of enforcing their contention of better pay for less labor, there is a great deal of discussion and of feeling concerning the probability of their success or failure. The question is one of supply and demand. The telegraph companies need operators, and the operators need employment. If there is a superabundance of operators, then the strike must fail. If there is a deficiency of them, the strike will succeed. If there is a superabundance, they will gradually come forward, under the attraction of high pay, and take the places the strikers have vacated. If there is any considerable deficiency, the fact will presently be demonstrated, and the companies will have to submit. The strike is a perfectly legitimate method of ascertaining the truth on this important point. Indeed, it seems to be the only means of ascertaining it. The companies are combinations of capitalists, seeking to get at the lowest price, the labor they require. The operators on their side combine to get the highest price they can for the labor they have to sell. At the end, the matter is determined neither by the one party nor the other, but by the fact.

AT CHICAGO.

Chicago, July 25.—Another day of excitement in telegraphic circles, at least during the morning hours, has passed. It did not take the Western Union officials long to contradict the report set forth by the strikers that President Green had called Gen. Eckert to end the strike, but the contradiction did not reach all business circles for some hours. The strikers soon contradicted the report, claiming that the Western Union had circulated it for the purpose of inducing operators to return to work. Later in the day a circular was issued from the strikers' headquarters explaining that the news had been received from a source supposed to be trustworthy, and was on that account credited by many of the brotherhood, but was not officially endorsed by Master Workman Morris, who described it as so far as the report of the strikers was concerned. The rumor, it is said, did so in good faith. At the company's office the aspect of matters did not differ materially from previous days. About the same number of operators were at work, and the volume of business offered showed no great increase. "A gradual and gratifying improvement tells the whole story," said one of the Western Union operators.

For a second time since the beginning of the strike wires were reported cut, and this time only the Western Union suffered.

The main discussion was over the resolution of the board of trustees calling attention to the fact that they were getting poor service, and suggesting that the public interest demanded the settlement of the difficulties between the telegraph companies and the operators by arbitration, if necessary. "I received the resolution from Secretary Randolph," Supt. Clowry said, "and answered that they would receive the same respectful recognition that the action of any body of business men demanded, and would be forwarded by me to the headquarters of the company at New York. I presume, of course, the members understand that that was the only course I could pursue."

Rumors were about during the greater part of the day about a break in the ranks of the brotherhood, and it was frequently stated that certain members had weakened, but investigation failed to bring to light any brother who was seeking to return to the telegraph companies. Manager McCulloch, of the Baltimore & Ohio, said his company was in the same shape it had been since Saturday. Monday it put its wires on the line of the land, but finding the business could not be done properly, had withdrawn all but one of them. He had heard reports about some of the boys weakening, but hadn't seen any evidence of a break.

During the day the strikers' committee waited on several railroad officials with the circular notifying them that if railroad operators were ordered to the Western Union in the future the brotherhood would not be so scrupulous. The committee claimed to have assurances in nearly every case that the railroad operators would be kept at their proper work.

AMONG THE STRIKERS.

The strikers who gathered at the headquarters in Ulrick's hall were not so numerous as on other days. Many of them, it was explained, were out on committee work most of the day. It was plain that they had been busy on the lands of many of the operators. A suggestion that any of the numbers were weakening was enough, however, to stir up an angry protest, and it was found difficult to name any member who could be considered as weak-kneed.

Regarding the cutting of the wires Vice President Quill said: "They don't make any changes, but the Western Union people try to throw the blame on us. They want to say we cut the wires, and that's the way they are trying to get it. Suppose the strikers wanted to interfere with the Western Union wires. Everybody knows that in fifteen minutes a good telegrapher could cause them annoyance which it would take weeks to discover. They wouldn't dare to charge the operators with cutting those wires, because they know it's false. I wonder if it's known that when a man is working on a wire, he is supposed to be working on the land, and that's the way they are trying to get it. THE GAZETTE. THURSDAY, JULY 26. BALTIMORE'S DEAD.

Forty Victims of the Late Plague Buried...Distressing Scenes.

Whole Number of Dead Reported at Sixty-Three...The Coroner's Verdict.

BALTIMORE, Md., July 26.—The funerals of some forty of the victims of the Tivoli disaster have taken place.

It now seems probable that no more bodies will be found, as the men dragging the water around the pier brought only two additional corpses to the surface.

One of the victims of the disaster, Mr. Henry McGinnis, aged 11, was found on the pier.

At Henderson's wharf, about a hundred people gathered to witness the disaster and express opinions as to the cause.

HOMEWARD BOUND. Mrs. Langtry's Departure for Her Native Heath.

New York, July 26.—There was a sensation about the shore and of the gang-plank of the steamer Atlanta as a carriage rolled down the pier.

"Are you glad to leave America, Mrs. Langtry?" asked the reporter.

"Indeed, no," she answered quickly. "I have had a very jolly time here, and feel that I am leaving many good friends behind me."

"You will find everything prepared," said the reporter, smiling agreeably and clapping her hand.

"I wish you a pleasant voyage," said Mrs. Langtry, and the young man sprang lightly on the gang-plank.

"The life told by the maid who was still on the wharf. A gentleman with a striking countenance of red mustache and blue necktie."

"Then he looked intently at the maid and suddenly kissed her. The maid never winked an eye."

"The maid went aboard and stood behind her mistress, who was leaning on the rail and looking down at her friends on the pier."

Working Men's lined pants, $1.00; good cassimere suit $4.50; all wool suit $6.50; boy's suit $2.00 at Chicago Store.

BRIEFERS.

—A beautiful little summer shower this morning at six o'clock.

—City Clerk Church had issued seventy-one dog licenses at two o'clock this afternoon.

—Mr. J. A. Denniston has a good supply of watermelons, grown in the vicinity of Evansville, Indiana.

—The Rev. Charles L. Thompson will remain in this city next Sunday, and will preach in the Presbyterian church.

—Subscribers to the daily Gazette, who are going out of town for a week or a month can have their papers forwarded to any address without extra charge.

—Reports from Johnston at two o'clock this afternoon, state that Mr. Walter Pember was resting quite easy, and his attendants thought him some better. He is a very sick man.

—The Chicago Ideal spent a few hours in the city this forenoon, while on their way to Madison, where they give "Iolanthe" this evening. They sang at Rockford last night to a packed house.

—William Brooks waived examination in the municipal court this afternoon, and the case was adjourned until the first of August. District Attorney Sala appeared for the state, and William Smith for the defendant.

—Washington Engine Co. No. 1 are making arrangement for a dancing party to be given in the ladies armory on Friday evening, August 10th, during the encampment of the first regiment. They have engaged Anderson's orchestra to furnish the music, and the members of the company will do their best to make all who attend happy.

—The harvesting machines are now in full operation in Rock county. With the aid of the self-binding the farmer is enabled to gather the golden sheaves with much less labor, and we see no crowds of idlers on the streets waiting for a farmer to come along and give them the highest bid to follow up a station behind an old-fashioned machine, as in days gone by. The self-binder has removed many of the perplexities, and much of the hard labor of the harvest field, and yet there is work for all.

—The common council of Janesville, by a vote of 4 to 4, the mayor voting in the negative, has refused to transfer to Mr. Nick Moran a retail liquor license, Nick was "way off" when he figured on Janesville extending favors to a Beloit man. —Beloit Free Press. Mr. Free Press, you are "way off." The fact of a Beloit man figuring in the above was not thought of by our common council. Mr. Sullivan, who had taken out the above license, now has a suit pending in the circuit court for a violation of one of the stipulations of a city ordinance; if he comes out second best in the trial, and if the common council do their whole duty, the license will undoubtedly be revoked. This the reason. Please note it.

—Hon. R. J. Burdick, of Beloit, chairman of the building committee of the county board of supervisors, was in the city to-day, in consultation with Supervisor Rathman, concerning the building of the new boiler house at the insane asylum in Johnston. Being former residents of Rock county, living in the town of Bradford, they have many acquaintances here, who are pleased to greet them.

—Mr. L. J. DeLand, one of the proprietors of the extensive and well-known chemical works at Fairport, New York, was born about two miles from this city. These works were established in 1852, and are today among the largest of their kind in the United States. They make the celebrated cap sheet starch, an article which is immensely popular in all parts of the country. A great many people in this county, who remember Mr. DeLand will be glad to hear of his success.

OFFICIAL REPORT.

OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION TO THE COMMON COUNCIL.

Below will be found the semi-annual report of the board of education made to the common council at their last meeting. The report contains many new items in relation to our schools, which will be of interest to our readers:

To the Honorable the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Janesville.

GENTLEMEN: In obedience to the requirements of Section 14 of Chapter 9, of chapter 221 laws of 1893, I respectfully submit the following report for your consideration:

As reported by our census enumerator for 1892, there were 3,632 children in our city between the ages of 4 and 20. Of this number 1,570 have been registered during the year as pupils in the public schools. Two hundred and twenty-five is a fair estimate of the number of children receiving instruction in parochial and private schools, making in all 1,801 pupils in educational training. A little less than 50 per cent. of our children of school age are receiving the benefits of our schools with an average daily attendance of 1,097 pupils, while the balance of 1,528 are non-attendants. Of the latter, the youngest portion are regarded by parents as too young to endure the restraints of the school room, or the exposure to danger at railroad crossings, or the distance to walk is considered too great, and consequently enter school a year or two later than the legal limit of age. Many of the oldest of the non-attendants have permanently withdrawn from school and are at home, or engaged in the various industries of the city. The middle portion of this class are neither too young, nor too indolent to be in school; but having acquired a dislike for books and for school generally, and being insubordinate to parental authority, cannot be induced to attend school, and so are passing rapidly to maturity without a very limited acquaintance with the simplest rudiments of an education.

To reach any portion of the non-attendant class the compulsory law of 1879, is the only legal means offered. To prove the potency of this remedy for illiteracy remains for the future.

Our school accommodations, though deficient in a few localities, are, altogether, in excess of the attendance, having a seating capacity of 1,815 pupils.

We have 31 schools and employ 33 teachers, as shown by the annexed list.

R. W. Burton has for eight years, served us in the dual capacity of principal of the high school and superintendent of schools. That his service has been satisfactory is indicated by his continuance in that position. The subordinate positions have mainly been occupied by graduates of our high school.

The city schools have been conducted by the following named teachers, during the school year ending June 29th, who have filled the positions and received the monthly salary set opposite their respective names in the following list, viz:

WE ALL BELIEVE

That it is a long lane that has no turning;

that many a shaft of random sent, finds a mark the other little meant; that no remedy sold will cure coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and all throat and lung troubles so quickly nor permanently as Dr. Bigelow's Positive cure; that our druggists, Stearns & Baker are very generous to give trial bottles of the remedy free of charge.

General Farewell Notice.

Colonel Britton this morning received the following acceptance from General Fairchild to attend the encampment of the first regiment in this city next month:

MADISON, Wis., July 25, 1893.

DEAR COLONEL:—It will give me much pleasure to visit your regiment during the encampment next month. Thanking you for your kind invitation, I am,

Very truly yours,

LUCIUS FAIRCHILD,

Col. Britton, 1st Reg. W. N. G.

OBITUARY.

MRS. MARY L. JUDD.

Mrs. Mary L. Judd, wife of Dr. W. H. Judd, (son of Dr. S. S. Judd) died this morning at 5:30, of peritonitis, or more commonly called, inflammation of the bowels. On Sunday afternoon she was not feeling well, but so far recovered as to eat a hearty dinner, and during Monday forenoon she was in usual health, but in the afternoon she was taken suddenly sick, her symptoms being very severe, and from the beginning of this attack there was hardly any hope that she would recover. Gradually she grew worse, and yesterday a consultation of physicians was had, when the opinion was expressed that there was no hope. She lingered until early this morning when death ended her sufferings, which were exceedingly severe from the first attack of the disease.

Mrs. Judd was about twenty-five years old, and had been married to Dr. Judd nearly six years, the marriage taking place at her home at Carthage, Illinois, in November, 1877. She was a woman of many accomplishments and rare grace, and during her residence in this city had gained the deep respect of a wide circle of friends. Since the graduation of her husband last spring, they made a home on North Bluff street, in which, was everything to make it beautiful and attractive and the young husband and wife completely happy, and that the ruthless hand of death should so soon darken the home, is peculiarly sad. The bereaved husband, and Dr. S. S. Judd and family, have the heartfelt sympathy of the community.

The funeral will take place from the home of the deceased on North Bluff street, to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Rev. Mr. Miller will officiate.

Big Shipment of Sheep.

A short time ago John A. Cotton, formerly of this city, shipped through this city on the C. M. & St. Paul, a train of thirty cars loaded with sheep to the number of 4,000. It is said to be the largest shipment of sheep ever landed in St. Paul. From that place they were sent to the ranch of Marquis De Morris, near Little Missouri, Dakota. Mr. Cotton is head man on the De Morris ranch, and attends to the buying, etc. Ten men went from Delavan with the sheep, and Mr. William Taylor, of this city, occupies a good position on the ranch. Mr. Cotton expects to put 14,000 sheep on the ranch, and will ship another train load from Delavan in a few days.

Marquis De Morris is a French nobleman, and is the man who shot and killed one or two men in a battle over the ownership of some claims, a full account of which has appeared in the newspapers. —Beloit Free Press.

Handsome Work.

The Central carriage works of Messrs. Lagrange Schottle & Co., are turning out some of the handsomest work in their line to be found anywhere. They have just completed a beauty in the way of a trotting sulky, which only weighs fifty-five pounds. It is the neatest put up sulky we have seen in a long time, and is for Mr. DeMeitit, of Lake Mills. They are also just completing a handsome Empire cross-spring buggy for Mr. Chas. Smith, of East Troy. The wood work of this is finished in oil, and will make a handsome looking run-out. They have other handsome jobs under way, and also have a large stock of first-class work in their line in store.

The Open Air Concerts.

The open air concert by the Bower City band on the corn exchange square last evening, drew out a large crowd of citizens to listen to the excellent music rendered. A temporary platform was built near the sidewalk on Milwaukee street for the accommodation of the musicians, which made it much more comfortable for all concerned, and prevented the people from crowding upon the band while playing. After discoursing their choicest music for about an hour, the band retired, and the crowd dispersed greatly pleased with the evening's entertainment. The next concert at this place will be given by the Bower City band on Wednesday evening next, and all are invited to be present.

AT THE PARK.

The Catholic Cornet band also drew a large crowd in the court house park last evening, the occasion being an open air concert by that band. They played some very choice music, and delighted the citizens for an hour. The park was illuminated by a locomotive head light, and Chinese lanterns, and the fountain playing at the time, added additional pleasure to the occasion. Everybody appeared to be well pleased with the concert.

The Dissolving Views.

The entertainment in Lappie's music hall last evening, drew another good audience, fully as large as on the first night, notwithstanding the outdoor amusements. The pictures, representing mostly scenes in the lowlands of Scotland were very fine, but the concluding scene of the series entitled the "Rock of Ages" was by far the grandest of all, and those who staid away from the hall last night missed one of the most beautiful scenes ever presented in this city. Rev. Mr. Gates is to be congratulated on the success of the entertainment, as it has netted a considerable sum for the benefit of Trinity parish guild.

THE GRAND ARMY BOXES.

An Invitation for the W. H. Sargent Post to Camp with the Bower City Rifles.

Captain LeGrange, of the Bower City Rifles, has sent W. H. Sargent Post No. 20, G. A. R., the following invitation, to become the guests of the Rifles in the camp of the first regiment on August 11th and 12th. The invitation will be acted upon at a meeting of the Post to-morrow evening:

HEADQUARTERS BOWER CITY RIFLES, COMPANY B, FIRST REGIMENT, W. N. G. JANESVILLE, July 24, 1893.

Mr. S. C. Cobb:

DEAR SIR—A cordial invitation is hereby extended to you, and through you to the members of W. H. Sargent Post No. 20, to become the guests of the Bower City Rifles, in camp in this city on August 11th and 12th.

Hoping to receive an early and favorable reply, we remain,

Yours sincerely,

J. B. LA GRANGE,

Captain Commanding Bower City Rifles.

Our readers will find all the medicines advertised in this paper at Prentice & Evenson's drug store, opposite the postoffice. They keep all the principal patent medicines in the market, and undoubtedly have the largest stock in the city.

Strength for Mind and Body.

There is more strength restoring power in a bottle of Parker's Ginger Tonic than in a bushel of malt or a gallon of milk. This explains why invalids find it such a wonderful invigorant for mind and body.

Father Doyle's Estate.

The following from the Milwaukee Journal will be of interest to a large number of persons in this city: "The administrator of the estate of Rev. J. M. Doyle, late of Janesville, deceased, is making every effort to bring about a final settlement favorable to creditors. Claims amounting to $15,000 and upwards are filed against the estate in probate court. The only available property belonging to the estate is to be sold at sheriff's sale, Aug. 8, at Janesville, the first then thereon amounting to about $6,000.

"Mr. G. P. Harrington, the administrator, is endeavoring to form a syndicate who will purchase the property advertised for sale at something near its actual value, and thus secure ample funds to pay the claims of creditors. The property to be sold Aug. 8, originally cost $25,000, which sum is far in excess of the claims held against the deceased."

The Public Needs not a Genuine Remedy

for skin diseases in GRACE'S SULFUR SOAP.

"HILL'S HAIR DYE," black or brown, fifty cents.

A Handsome and Convenient Office.

Messrs. Carpenter & McGowan, who have recently formed a partnership in the law profession, have just completed refitting and returning their law office in Lappie's block, and now have one of the neatest and best arranged offices to be found in the city. The walls and ceilings have been papered in the latest style, the wood work repainted, and new furniture added, making as comfortable quarters as could be desired.

Mr. Ed. F. Carpenter is well known in this city and Southern Wisconsin, having been in company for some time with Judge Cassaday in the practice of law, and later with Hon. S. J. Todd.

He has been very successful in his practice. Mr. E. D. McGowan, the junior member of the firm, is a young man, who was recently a student in a law office of Bennett & Sale, and was admitted to the bar about a year ago. He is an active, industrious young man, and of close study, good judgment and sound sense will win success, he and the new firm will have no cause to complain.

Enterprising hotel agents wanted in this town for an article that is sure to sell, like druggists and grocers preferred. Address: Harrington Food Preservative Co., 72 Kibby street, Boston.
